Somewhere Between intimately depicts the lives of four teenage Chinese-American adoptees as they openly navigate the trials and tribulations of adolescence while wrestling with their identities as transracial adoptees.

This much-anticipated screening has finally arrived in Austin... and coming together as a community to view this special documentary depicting such a touching subject matter will be a moving experience for us all!

Please join other FCC-Austin members, former members, and those who have supported our organization for this private, single-evening screening.

Strongly not recommended for those 13 years and under.
