Details

Any FCC teen or tween whether they are coming to camp or not is invited to come and help prepare the 200 camp folders. After this task is completed, Becky Harding and Alisan Turner will conduct a babysitting workshop for young people interested in learning about this activity. We will have materials and then some best practices discussions. Alisan Turner has been serving the FCC community childcare needs for several years and will share her tips and suggestions with the group. Workshop participants will, if they choose, have their contact information made available to FCC families interested in childcare throughout the year.

This workshop is free of charge and service hours may be earned with participation.

Email Becky Harding at bjho902@aol.com to RSVP.
